The National Council of the Slovak Republic has adopted the following Act:

Chapter I

PART ONE

INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS

Section 1

Subject-matter of regulation

This Act governs the legal conditions and the way of performance of patent representatives, duties of patent representatives, establishment, status, and competence of the Slovak Chamber of Patent Attorneys (hereinafter referred to as the "Chamber").

Section 2

Authorisation to act as patent representative

Patent representatives, as well as the other natural persons and legal entities stipulated in Sections 30, 33, and 34 are authorised to perform services of patent representatives pursuant to this Act on the territory of the Slovak Republic under the conditions laid down by this Act.

PART TWO

PATENT REPRESENTATIVE

Prerequisites for performing the activities of a patent representative

Section 3

(1) Patent representative is a natural person registered in the List of Patent Representatives (hereinafter referred to as the "the List").

(2) Activity of a patent representative shall mean representation of natural persons and legal entities before the Industrial Property Office of the Slovak Republic (hereinafter referred to as the "Office") and before the other state administrative bodies in the proceedings related to industrial property. While performing its activity, a patent representative also provides expert advices in the field of industrial property rights, draws up documents necessary for legal acts in the field of industrial property rights and provides further forms of special consultancy and professional assistance in the field of industrial property (hereinafter referred to as the “patent representative service”).

(3) While performing the activities of a patent representative and performing patent representative services, he shall be obliged to protect rights and legitimate interests of natural persons and legal entities in accordance with the Constitution of the Slovak Republic, with the laws, and other generally binding legal regulations.

Section 4

a) employees of a patent representative, employees of patent representative company,
b) members of the Chamber bodies and its employees, as well as all persons that participate in disciplinary proceeding including Chairman and members of Revision Commission authorised to prepare the acts of disciplinary proceeding and discuss whether disciplinary offence occurred; however this does not relate to proceeding before the court in the given matters.

(7) Obligation to keep secrecy pursuant to a special regulation⁹⁾ shall not be prejudiced by this Act.

Section 19

(1) Patent representative shall be obliged to refuse the performance of patent representative services, if

a) he has performed patent representative services in the same matter or in the matter related to it to another person whose interests are in contradiction to the interests of person which applies for the performance of patent representative services,
b) the interests of a patent representative or persons close to it are in contradiction to the interests of person to whom the patent representative services should be performed,
c) person whose interests are in contradiction to the interests of that one who applies for patent representative services in the same matter or in the matter related to it has been performed with patent representative services by patent representative with whom he jointly performs activity of a patent representative for patent representative company,
d) the performance of its activity were suspended,
e) the information he has of another client or former client could unjustifiably give preferential treatment to that one who applies for the performance of patent representative services,
f) he is unable to duly defend and uphold the interests of a client with regards to provable workload or long-term absence,
g) by performing patent representative services criminal offence would be committed.

(2) Patent representative shall be obliged to withdraw from the contract on performance of patent representative services, if he additionally learns of the fact specified in paragraph 1.

(3) Patent representative shall be obliged to justify the refusal to provide the client with services.

(4) If anyone cannot acquire the performance of professional services pursuant to this Act, he shall be entitled to ask the Chamber for the provision of a suitable patent representative. If this is not prevented by the reasons given in paragraph 1 or 2, patent representative offered by the Chamber shall be obliged to perform the patent representative services to full extent.

Section 20

(1) Patent representative shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract on performance of patent representative services, if the trust between him and the client has been impaired, if the client does not provide the necessary co-operation or if he does not deposit the reasonable advance for fee for representation and performance of patent representative services without a serious reason despite that he has been asked to do so by the patent representative pursuant to Section 23.

(2) Contract on performance of patent representative services pursuant to paragraph 1 shall be terminated as of the moment when the act of will to withdraw from it is delivered to the client.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed by patent representative and client or unless the client took other measures, patent representative shall be obliged to carry out all pressing acts within 15 days since the delivery of notification of withdrawal from the contract on performance of patent representative services so that the client shall not incur damage to its rights or entitled interests. This does not relate to the client who notifies patent representative in writing that he does not insist on the meeting of this obligation.

Section 21

Stand-in for patent representative

(1) Within its authorisation, a patent representative may get substituted by another patent representative to the same extent; such substitution is impossible against the will of the client.

(2) At the individual acts, the patent representative may be substituted by Assistant or another employee of patent representative.

If the patent representative breaches this obligation, the Chamber with the consent of the client shall appoint a substitute patent representative (hereinafter referred to as the "substitute patent representative") withal that according to circumstances of the case he shall also determine the amount of compensation which must be provided by the patent representative to the substitute patent representative. During the continuation of obstruction at the side of the patent representative, the substitute patent representative shall execute in his name rights and obligations related to the performance of activity of the patent representative.

(4) If a substitute patent representative appointed by the Chamber does not agree with the client pursuant to paragraph 3 within one month since the date the client has been notified of his appointment, or if the client does not take another measures within that period of time, rights and obligations of the original patent representative shall be transferred to the substitute patent representative in relation to the client. This relates also to the case when the substitute patent representative has been appointed by the Chamber pursuant to Section 19 (4). The Chamber shall acknowledge this transfer of rights and obligations upon request of the substitute patent representative.

(5) The contents of transfer of rights and obligations pursuant to paragraph 4 is neither the obligation of a substitute patent representative to reimburse the damage pursuant to Section 24 nor obligation to return the things, including financial means provided by the client to the substituted patent representative, if he has not delivered them to the substitute patent representative. Further rights and obligations resulting from the original contractual relation between the patent representative and client shall not be transferred to the substitute patent representative, if the substitute patent representative could be unreasonably favoured or disfavoured due to their transfer over the original patent representative or if the meeting of these obligations could not be fairly required from the substitute patent representative.

(6) If a patent representative who performed activity of a patent representative individually, has been deleted from the List or if his performance of activity of the patent representative has been suspended and if this is necessary with regards to circumstances of the case, the Chamber shall immediately take the necessary measures for the protection of rights and protected interests of his clients, in particular, it may determine the substitute patent representative for the deleted patent representative. The Chamber shall immediately inform the clients in writing on taken measures. The stipulations of paragraphs 4 and 5 relate to this paragraph identically.

Section 22
